1) A significant amount of discussion on Management Information Systems Curriculum document presented by Gedas Adomavicius, IDSc. For example, the changes in the MIS Curriculum. The document is posted on the web.

Changes in MIS curriculum (as of Fall 2008)
Starting in Fall 2008 semester, there will be the following major changes in MIS curriculum:
• IDSC 3201 – Introduction to Programming for Systems Development (4 credits) will be split into the following two courses:
  o IDSC 3101 – Introduction to Programming (2 cr.)
  o IDSC 3102 – Intermediate Programming (2 cr.)
• IDSC 4203 – Information Technology Infrastructure (4 cr.) will be split into the following two courses:
  o IDSC 3103 – Introduction to Databases (2 cr.)
  o IDSC 3104 – Business Communication Technologies (2 cr.)
• IDSC 4204 – Information Services Management (4 cr.) will be a writing-intensive course (IDSC 4204W).
• A new required 2-credit course – the MIS capstone course – will be added to the MIS curriculum (tentative course number: IDSC 4301).
